FIFTH NIGHT

Every Beat on the Upper West Side Visited by The Evening World's Automobiles After Midnight To-Day, but Not a Roundsman Was on Duty.

FEW SERGEANTS WERE SUPERVISING PATROL.

Conclusive Proof that Work Is Shirked and that Deplorable Conditions Exist Bell 3. in the Early Morning Hours from Twenty-Third Street Up to Harlem.

The most conclusive test made thus far of the carelessness of patrolmer during the early morning hours was made to-day. It proved conclusively that patrolmen are not patrolling properly and that when many of them think espionage is removed they relapse into the habits that made the "last tour" under the Devery administration a disgrace and a shame.

One automobile was started from Twenty-third street and Broadway up town. The other was started from The World's uptown office in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street downtown. Each automobile covered the side streets, crossing from Broadway and Contral Park West to the river at four afternoon. block intervals. The routes were so arranged that the automobiles should cress town on routes two illocks apart. For instance, the automobile going Mason's ruh was not surprising. He al flown passed east through Figy-ninth street and Tenth avenue to Central was favorite, and heavily Park West, while the automobile bound downtown passed through Sixty-first

By this method every beat west of Broadway, north of Twenty-third street and south of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street was either bisected, circled or skirted on one or more sides by both automobiles.

The net result was the discovery of fitty-one patrolmen. In the early hours most of them were doing their duty as patrolmen

Later on most of them could not be found. A striking instance of the way the police shirk after 2.30 o'clock in the morning was furnished by the district between Twenty-third and Fiftyninth streets, which includes the greater part of the old and new Tenderloin. The precincts in this section are heavily manned. While the night life of the Tenderloin was comparaively young, between ars of 1 o'clock and 2 o'clock A. M., The Evening World investigators found twenty-one mer on patrol duty between Fifty-ninth and Twenty- finish and won by a scant length from

RACE TRACK, GRAVESEND, N. Y. Sept. 22 .- First Mason was beaten in the Occidental Handicap at Gravesend this Those horses that race in the Rowe colors have a way of discourse. He had on his back Jockey Booker, especially imported from had no speed in the race, and was out run from the first jump.

Dainty, whose last race at Sheepshead was a bad one, won a fast race from Dolly Spanker in one of the fastest races of the meeting. This may have been the reason that First Mason did not show so well. Sweet Pepper started a few days ago at Brighton and was not placed. She was not backed either. This afternoon she started again. This time she was Niblick, who showed a lot of improve-

Lord Badge was served up as an odds on favorite in the second race. He had no speed, and backed up all the way, finaly finishing last. Grasful was the good thing of the race, backed from 10 to 1. down to 5 to 1. Jack Ratlin was also heavily played. Some one knew that the favorite was not good. Jack Ratlin raced to the front, followed by Graceful and they raced, together and stead ly drew away from the others. In the run home Graceful went to the front, and won driving by half a length from Jack Ratlin, who was six lengths in front of Sheriff Bell.

Danseuse and Lochinvar were wellplayed choices in the third race. Niblick was also well played. Sweet Pepper, a good thing, played down from 16 to 1 to 5 to 1, went to the front at the start and was never caught, just romping home an easy winner by three-quarters of a length from Niblick, who finished strong and beat Danseuse four lengths for the place. The winner was entered to be sold for $1,000. W. M.
Scheftell bid her up to $2,300, and she was sold at that price.
